Sabella: so like Tony Currie

AFTER watching Argentinian Alex Sabella (left) train for just a few hours with his new teammates at Leeds, manager Jimmy Adamson, was delighted with his £425,000 capture from Sheffield United.

"He reminds me very much of the way Tony Currie used to play for Leeds," the manager enthused.

"He's got the ability to make openings by pretending to play balls, then switching it and I'm delighted how quickly he struck up an understanding with Brian Flynn and Eddie Gray.

"Like Currie, he's the kind of player the kids see as a hero. He's the type of player their fathers will take them along to watch — he's got that bit of magic about him, like Ardiles.

"I'm sure he'll soon show the Leeds public what he's capable of doing.

"He wants to be successful, he wants to be noticed in the First Division and he will relish the new atmosphere."

Spurs are just incredible
says
GARTH CROOKS

IT WAS appropriate that Tottenham's latest move into the transfer market was for Garth Crooks — for it was with the efficiency of bank thieves that they stole this talented striker away from Stoke.

They've not only signed a consistent goalscorer, but a crowd-pleasing forward and a perfect partner up front for another new signing Steve Archibald.

And all for £600,000!

Compared with today's prices it's a steal. And it's a price tag that suits Garth (pictured right).

He told Match Weekly: "If things don't work out and I'm struggling to score goals people will say 'well he only cost £600,000 anyway'.

The move could not have been a better one for the 21-year-old Young England striker.

He wanted to go to a fashionable club with the chance of winning things. Tottenham fitted that bill — they were also one of the sides he followed as a kid and White Hart Lane was his favourite away ground.

"I remember playing here with Stoke in the season Tottenham won the Second Division Championship," Garth said.

"I went out on the pitch for a warm-up before the game and the atmosphere was incredible.

"The crowd was 40,000. I had an excellent first-half and really enjoyed the experience even though we lost.

"It definitely brought the best out of me then and I'm hoping this move will do the same."

Although Garth had his differences with Stoke manager Alan Durban last season — he refused to play in midfield — it was only Stoke's cash problems that prompted the move.

"There's no bitterness between me and Alan," Garth added. "With the amount of money he's spent over the last two or three seasons, he's done a brilliant job."

"I'm disappointed at leaving the Stoke fans. I had a good relationship with them."

It's been a busy summer on the transfer market with some notable names on the move.

Today Match talks to three stars about their old clubs and their hopes for the future.

WOMEN ON THE MOVE

Mike Robinson on Manchester City:

EART FANS

MANCHESTER City reject Mike Robinson has handed out a warning to his old club as he sets his sights on new south coast horizons next season.

Mike, transferred to Brighton for £450,000 last month after just one season at Maine Road, told Match:

"Personally I feel that any improvement at City next season won't be much if any.

"They have as many good young players as any club in the country but it all depends how they are asked to play.

"Malcolm Allison never played me in the role I was bought for and the role I am best at — as an old fashioned style centre forward.

"There's no doubt Malcolm has this quality which makes players want to do well for him but that doesn't mean I necessarily agreed with him — he's always changing his mind. It's sad . . . for him.

"I was told I was part of the plans at Maine Road next season and then I found myself being left out of tactics talks at training sessions," claimed Mike.

"Manchester City is a fantastic Club and the supporters are out of this world — it breaks my heart to leave them but when the time comes to go you have to go."

Looking forward to the future at Brighton Mike — he prefers to be called Michael — told Match:

"What's important to me is that Mr Mullery has asked me to play in the role I am best at — something which didn't happen at City."

So can Brighton finish above City in the League next season? Michael's answer was an emphatic "yes".

New look Albion

WEST Bromwich Albion are to spend £2 million on ground improvements at the Hawthorns.

The work will include new dressing rooms, 24 executive boxes and a new executive club.

The club is currently rebuilding part of the stand which formerly contained the offices.

THIS will be the 58th Charity Shield match and the seventh played at Wembley. No less than nine of those past games have finished in draws after 90 minutes.

JOE'S JIG

TAKE your partners for the 'Military Tooth-step'.

That could be the caption for this dance sequence from the Old Trafford ballet with Manchester United's Joe Jordan and Liverpool's Phil Thompson top of the bill.

I'm looking for a funny line from YOU for the picture — and there's a super MATCH football for the best one.

Send your entries to "Matchline", Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough, to arrive by first post Friday, August 15.

City coaches

PAUL Power and Steve Daley of Manchester City are among the star coaches who will be instructing six to 16-year-olds at Timperley, near Altrincham, Manchester in August.

Oldham's Kenny Clements, Simon Stainrod and Rodger Wyld are also set to attend the course at the Civil Service Sports ground on August 10, 17 and 24.

A non-residential course is also planned for August 24-29 featuring awards, a free T-shirt and film shows. Further details from: Mike Newlin, c/o Sports Advisory Service, 36 Moorgate Road, Rotherham, S Yorks.

What a warm-up!

ABERYSTWYTH Town, who play in the Mid Wales League, must have had the best pre-season warm-up fixture list of any non-League club.

Their supporters saw matches against Wrexham, Middlesbrough, Shrewsbury Town, Newport County and Wigan Athletic.

That was the week that was . . .

On August 9, 1969 Charlie George made his Football League debut for Arsenal against Everton . . . on August 10, 1968 Larry Lloyd (now Forest) made his League debut for Bristol Rovers against Watford, Liverpool signed Kenny Dalglish from Celtic for £440,000 on August 10, 1977 . . . and on the same day in 1979 Graham Kelly was appointed to succeed Alan Hardaker as Football League secretary.

David Johnson left Ipswich Town for Liverpool for £200,000 on August 12, 1976 and two days later Jeremy Charles made his senior debut — with Swansea City in a League Cup-tie against Newport County. He went on as a 72nd minute substitute, scored with his first kick, and added a second five minutes from the end.

BELOW: John Green, Rotherham United's captain, was determined a cartilage operation was not going to keep him off the club's annual team photograph as he hopped along to Millmoor, last week.

He could hardly take his rightful place in the middle of the front row, so elected for the camouflage of the back row.

The double life of Alan Ramage

Did...

THE only two players who represented England at both cricket and football were Gloucestershire's Arthur Milton of Bristol City and Arsenal (1952) and Sunderland's Willie Watson of Yorkshire and Leicestershire (1950-51).

you know...

THREE other Yorkshiremen played professional football as well as playing cricket for England. They were Brian Close (Arsenal and Bradford City), Ken Taylor (Huddersfield), Chris Balderstone, now with Leicestershire (Huddersfield, Doncaster and Carlisle).

DERBY County's new £150,000 signing twenty-two-year-old Alan Ramage, has emerged as the latest of a rare breed of players who have reached the top level at both football and cricket.

An uncompromising centre-half with over 70 appearances with Middlesbrough to his name, Ramage is also Yorkshire County Cricket Club's fastest bowler.

It's a double life that caused a headache for Middlesbrough boss John Neal, anxious to have Ramage fit and ready in his squad for the First Division campaign.

"The boss was very good about allowing me to play cricket after pre-season football training had started and agreed to let my Yorkshire manager Ray Illingworth keep me for the games against the West Indies and Middlesex, while the Middlesbrough lads went to Aberystwyth to train.

"I was very grateful to him because Yorkshire were doing well and I wanted to keep my place as long as I could. I haven't been away and have kept very fit so when I signed for Derby I didn't find it too difficult to adjust."

Son of a former Leeds United part-timer, Alan lives aptly enough in Cricket Lane, in his home village near Middlesbrough and reveals he started his cricket career as a batsman.

"I scored a few hundreds as a schoolboy and for Yorkshire schools and went on to play for England Schools, but at 15 was persuaded to concentrate on fast bowling."

Alan's football career began as an apprentice under Jack Charlton at Ayresome Park and in his first year as a full time professional he made his debut at Leeds.

"I came in for Willie Maddren alongside Stuart Boam at the back and Gordon McQueen scored two headers against us," Alan recalls.

He made 13 League and one FA Cup appearance for Middlesbrough last season, scoring in the 4-1 defeat at Southampton.

"I would have loved to have won a regular place at Middlesbrough, but Billy Ashcroft and Tony McAndrew have been playing so well it would have been very difficult. I jumped at the chance to sign for Derby and I'm sure I'll learn a lot from Roy McFarland.

"I can't say which of the two sports I prefer. My ambition is to do as well as I can at both, but there will no doubt come a time when I'm going to have to make up my mind. I'm lucky in that I haven't had to do it yet."

Ramage gets in a header against Joe Jordan

LIVERPOOL and England's brilliant midfielder Terry McDermott is this week's guest on 'Tackle a Star' — the series where you the readers ask the questions.

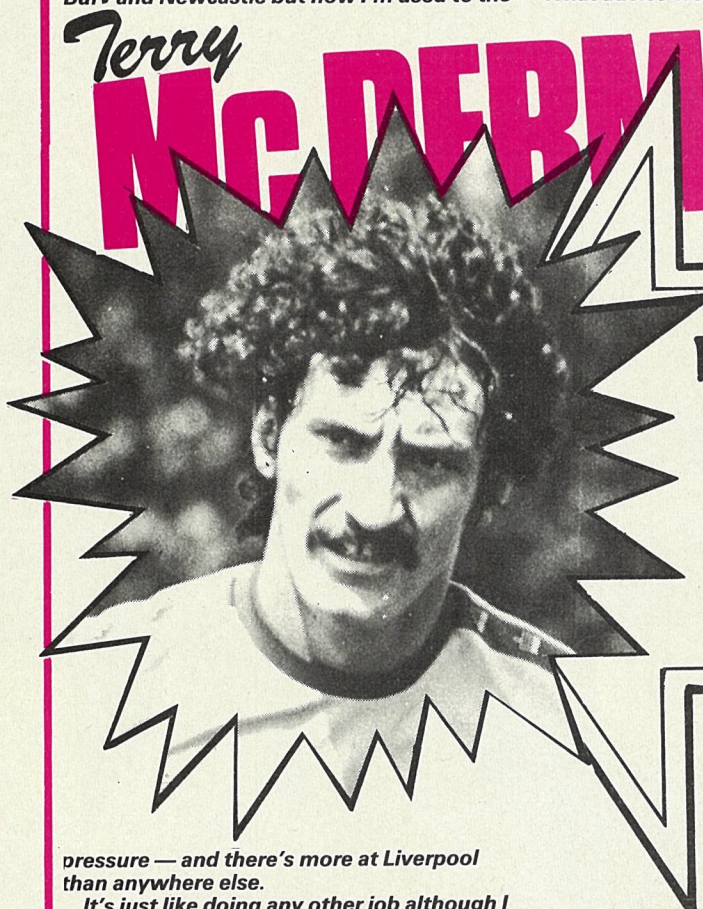

Terry, voted player of the year by his fellow professionals and by the football writers last season, was delighted to have a word with a few of his fans . . .

Not so nervous

SIMON SHERBORNE, Newcastle: Do you still get nervous before a match and what can you do to prevent nerves?

TERRY McDERMOTT: Quite honestly, Simon, I don't get nervous before a normal match anymore. I used to in my time with Burv and Newcastle but now I'm used to the pressure — and there's more at Liverpool than anywhere else.

It's just like doing any other job although I still get butterflies before the bigger matches.

When you are playing for a good team like Liverpool you don't get so nervous, but it's all about experience.

Spurs the hardest

CHRISTOPHER CARTER, Cardiff: Who were Liverpool's toughest opponents last season and who is your favourite other player?

TERRY: I'm tempted to say any team that beat us Christopher! We had some hard games but probably the hardest at Anfield was against Tottenham.

Although we won the game it could have gone either way — they played really well.

Favourite other player? There are lots of them but for sheer skill I admire Glenn Hoddle more than anyone else.

The skill he's got is untrue . . . more than anyone I've seen for a long time.

Best moment

JEREMY HOPE, Willesdon, London: What is the best moment from your football career and which medal do you treasure most?

TERRY: I can tell you the ones I don't treasure most — my two FA Cup runners-up medals! Seriously it has to be the winners medal from the European Cup final of 1977.

I scored a goal but just winning it for the first time has to be my best moment with Liverpool. Playing for England is always a great moment and obviously getting my first cap was a big thrill.

Advice for youngsters

PETE BULMER, Winsford, Cheshire: What advice would you give to young midfield players like myself?

TERRY: The harder you work, Pete, the better you will become. Players like Kenny Dalglish and Graeme Souness have what I call natural skill. Players like myself lack a little skill so it's a case of putting in a lot of effort. Just work as hard as you can.

Debut day

TONY JINKS, Macclesfield, Cheshire: What do you remember about your debut for Liverpool and were they the team you always wanted to play for?

TERRY: I made my debut against Everton in November 1974 at Goodison and we drew 0-0 but I didn't play too well. I tend to forget about games like that!

Without a doubt I always dreamed of playing for Liverpool. I used to stand on the terraces at Anfield week in week out and Ian St John was my big hero of the time.

SAVED MY BEST FOR RESERVES!

GRAHAM MOSELEY

Brighton — No. 24

BIRTHPLACE: Manchester

BIRTHDATE: November 16, 1953

CAREER: Blackburn Rovers, Derby, Aston Villa (on loan), Walsall (on loan), Brighton

INTERNATIONAL APPEARANCES: England Youth caps.

LEAGUE APPEARANCES: 101

MY GREATEST SAVE: "It may sound strange but my best save was for Derby Reserves in a Central League game against Liverpool Reserves at Anfield.

A wall of four of our players obscured the player who took it, but a free-kick was hit from the edge of the penalty area level with my right hand post and curled left footed just inside it, but I made a lot of ground, managed to get both hands to it and scoop it out from under the angle."

A cracker for the cameras!

TERRY McDERMOTT

(Liverpool) v Tottenham
F.A. Cup Quarter-Final, White Hart
Lane, March 8, 1980. Final score:
Liverpool 1, Tottenham 0.

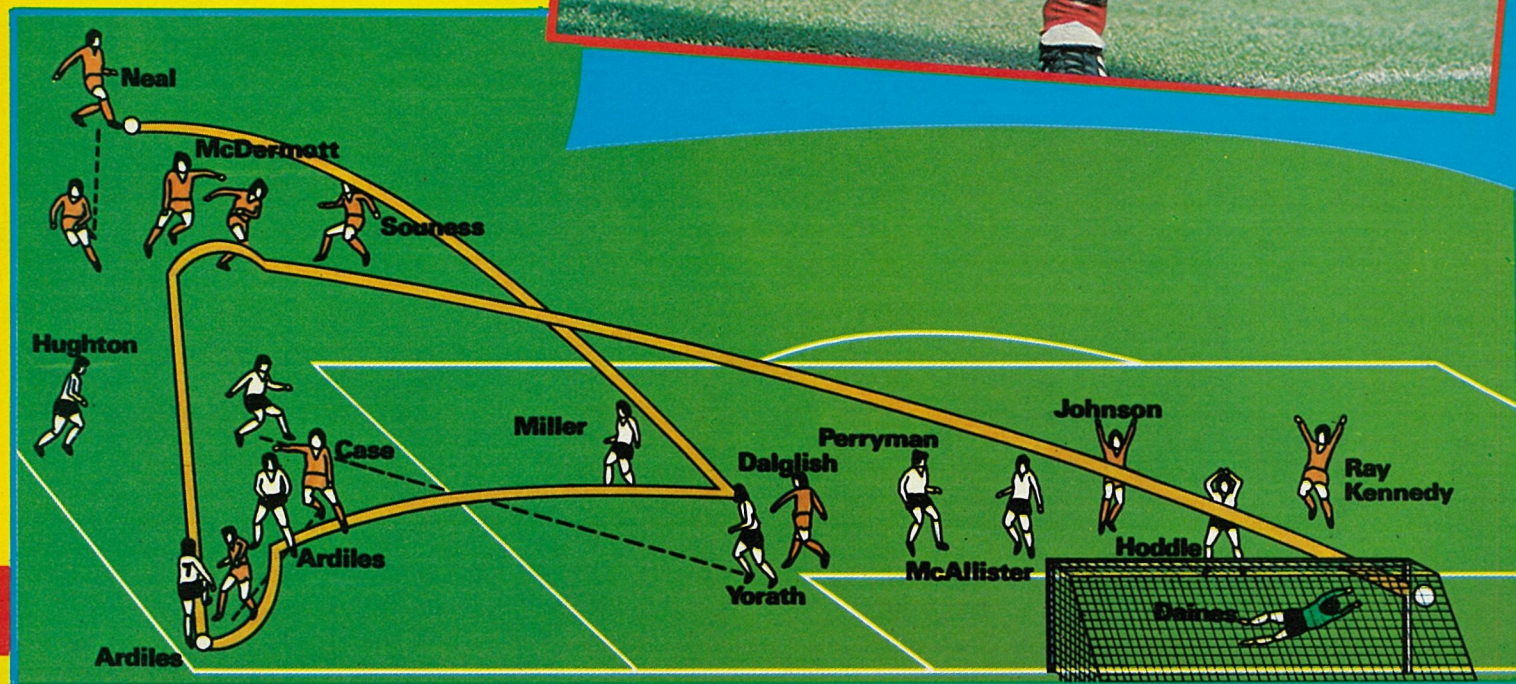

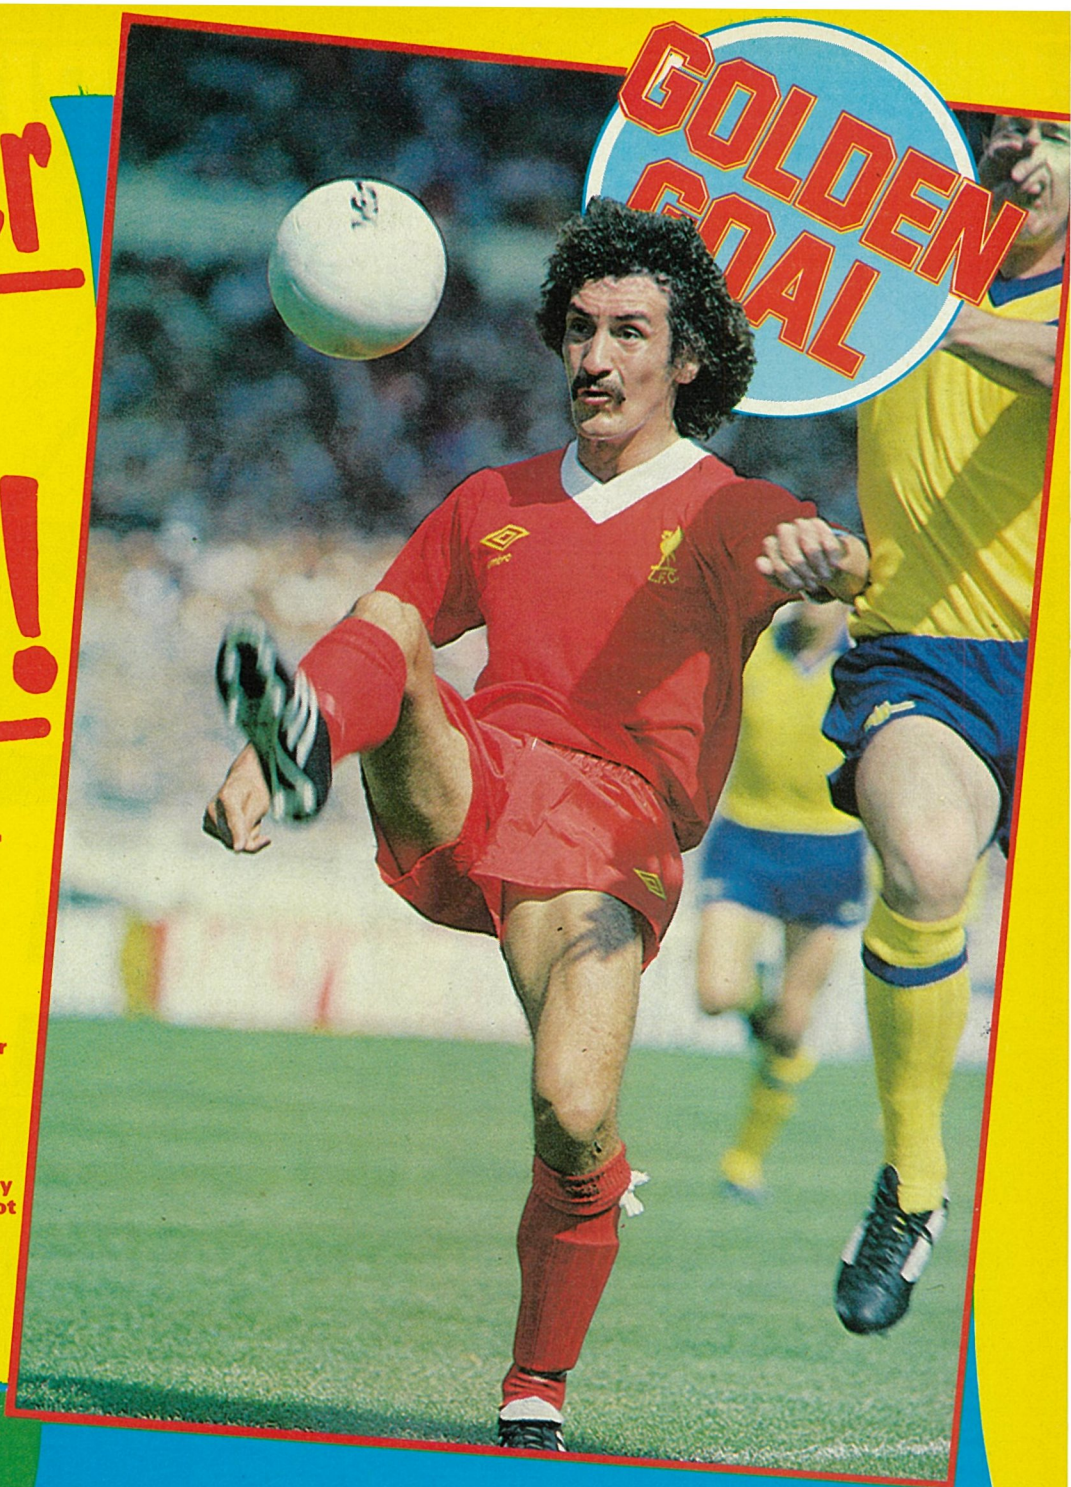

TERRY McDERMOTT makes a habit of scoring important F.A. Cup goals in front of the television cameras. Just ask Everton about their F.A. Cup Semi-Final in 1977 and Tottenham, on the end of this particular cracker.

Nothing seemed on for McDermott when he seized Ossie Ardiles' awful clearance about 35 yards out.

But seconds later the ball was nestling in Barry Daines' net after the most vicious, swerving shot you could wish to see.

McDermott said: "The ball bounced up nicely for me but I can't remember if I meant to flick it up or if it just came that way.

"But when it bounced I thought 'I'm hitting it now, like'." And what a cracker it was!

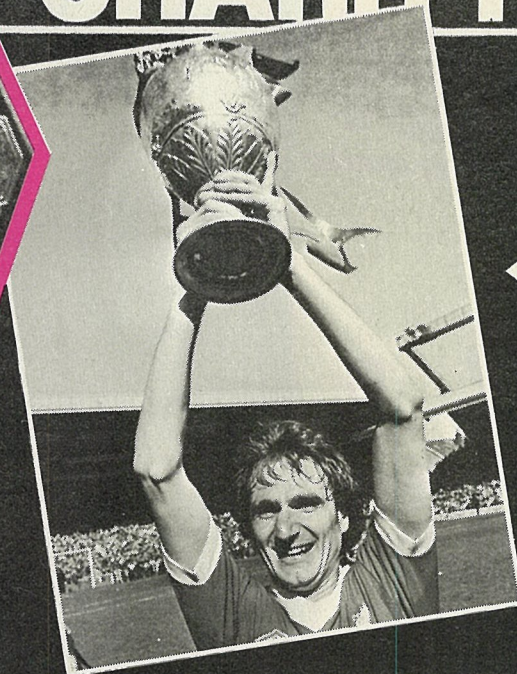

CHARITY SHIELD

How they got there

◀ It's mine! . . . Liverpool's Phil Thompson holds aloft the League Championship trophy.

▶ It's mine! . . . Billy Bonds shows the FA Cup to the ecstatic West Ham fans.

BE WARIN

Phil Thompson's message to West Ham

PHIL Thompson has warned West Ham not to copy Arsenal's approach to the Charity Shield battle.

"On the way to last year's game we were reading comments from the Arsenal lads that they were going to show the rest of the First Division how we could be beaten," said the Liverpool captain.

"It was the best motivation we could have had. It made us doubly determined to win."

Liverpool's 3-1 swamp of the men from Highbury was widely regarded as one of their best performances — even by their high standards.

Phil agrees. But at the same time he blames that display for Liverpool's sticky spell early in the League season.

"Everybody raved about that performance and they said they might as well give us the League, FA Cup and League Cup there and then.

"We maybe got a bit too blasé and didn't concentrate enough in a couple of games.

"The Charity Shield is always an entertaining game because it's looked upon as a training session and you can try out different attacking ideas.

"All credit to Arsenal. Last season they came out and made a game of it and I'm certain West Ham will be the same.

"We're all looking forward to it."

It's a Charity Shield fact

West Ham can restore London pride against Liverpool in the Charity Shield. The last time the trophy went to the capital was when Spurs won it in 1962!

Hard for Hammers

HARD work can be West Ham's biggest weapon.

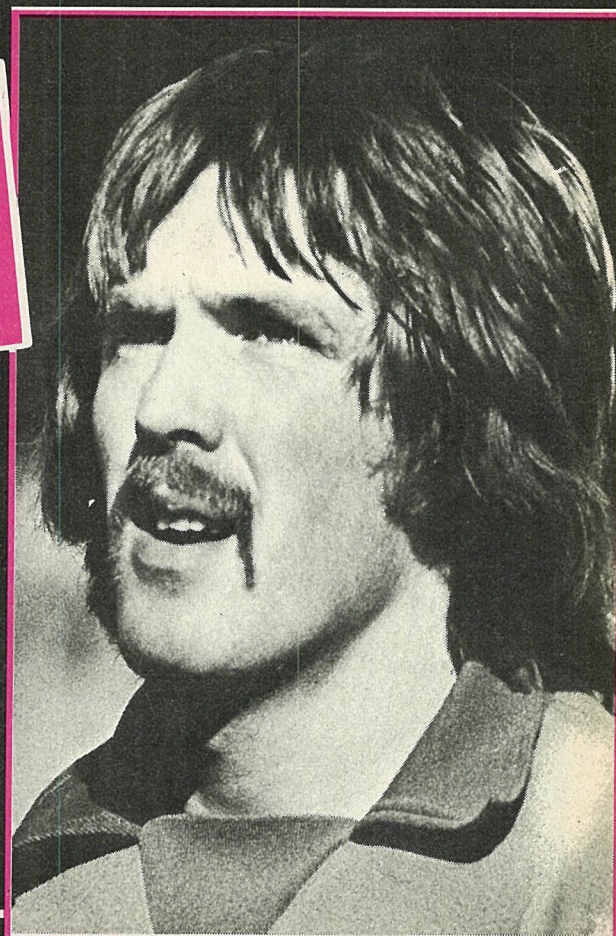

That's the view of Arsenal star Graham Rix whose own side was locked in conflict with the Reds no less than seven times last season.

The first of those meetings came in last year's Charity Shield when Liverpool finished up convincing 3-1 winners.

Says Graham: "Maybe one of the main reasons for our defeat that day was that we weren't prepared to work hard enough."

Key men? "I think Hammers goalkeeper Phil Parkes (right) could have an important part to play.

"He's a great 'keeper, but I think he might just be a bit busy," said Graham.

PREVIEW

ED!

So happy to be at Wembley

WEST HAM skipper Billy Bonds has never tasted defeat on the famous Wembley turf.

He's been there in two Cup finals with the Hammers and both times he's come away with a winner's medal.

And while he'd enjoy nothing more than victory over Liverpool today he admits:

"Personally I don't think the result is everything.

"We are lucky to be playing at Wembley and as long as we enjoy the day, play reasonably well and help make it a good game I'll be happy.

"Of course we'll be treating it as a competitive game and there's no doubt our fans will, but there won't be as much pressure on us as there was in the Cup Final. We want to win but we want to enjoy the day out too.

"I think we have players who rise to the big occasion and the team is riddled with players who have First Division experience, but it's got to be a team effort on our part and we'll just be playing our normal game."

Looking at the opposition, Billy said:

"Liverpool are League Champions and that's all about consistency and being the best team.

"We've just got to hope we can catch them on an off day. If you start really looking into the Liverpool team they frighten you to death."

"You can try and tie up their midfield but someone else will always turn up against you.

"Players like Kenny Dalglish and David Johnson can win a game on their own."

It's a Charity Shield fact

Leeds United are the only League Champions to have lost in the Charity Shield (they did so to Liverpool on penalties in 1974) since 1962 when FA Cup winners Spurs beat Ipswich 5-1.

KENNY Dalglish — capable of winning a game on his own, says Billy Bonds.

Football League Cup preview

SHEFFIELD Wednesday v Sheffield United . . . what a feast to whet the appetite of every football fan for the long, hard season ahead.

The draw for the first round of the Football League Cup couldn't have produced a more intriguing battle than that for the pride of Sheffield.

The Hillsborough clash is the pick of Saturday's game. But there are plenty of other 'goodies' in store.

Grimsby play host to Notts County, one of the sides they beat on the way to last year's League Cup quarter-final.

Blackburn, fresh out of the Third Division meet Huddersfield, promoted from the Fourth, while Alan Ball's Blackpool braves travel to Walsall, led by another famous player-manager Alan Buckley.

The second leg matches begin on Monday, August 11 when Stockport play Chester.

The majority of the return legs are on Tuesday except for the following which take place on Wednesday: Reading v Northampton, Fulham v Peterborough, Bradford City v Rotherham, Oxford v Southend, Cardiff v Torquay, Blackpool v Walsall, Crewe v Wigan.

CUP CLASSIC

Sheffield teams clash in curtain raiser

THE first-ever Football League Cup goal was scored by Fulham centre-forward Maurice Cook. He was on the scoresheet ten minutes after the start of a first round tie at Bristol Rovers on September 26, 1960. Rovers, however, went on to win 2-1. SWINDON — drawn away to Bournemouth in the first round — this time — set up a League Cup record that still stands when as a Third Division team they knocked out five higher-grade sides in season 1968-69 — Coventry, Burnley and Arsenal (Div One) and Blackburn and Derby (Div Two).

PORT VALE will be hoping to improve on their dismal record in the competition when they entertain Tranmere on Saturday. Theirs is the worst of any of the 92 clubs — losing 20 ties and winning just three.

It's a fact

FOOTBALL FUNNIES

EVERYBODY loves to take a dig at a team when they're down — and that's certainly the case as far as poor old Rochdale FC are concerned.

The latest mailbags to arrive at the Match Weekly office have been bulging with jokes about the club. Shame!

Still we're certain Rochdale would agree that they make funny reading. We certainly enjoy them!

The senders of the following jokes each receive £2. You too can make an easy £2 by sending your joke, funny story, or limerick on a postcard to Football Funnies, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough, PE1 1UB.

Don't forget to include your name, age and address.

Meanwhile have a giggle at this week's selection from the following readers.

FIGHT and determination are more important than skill in the frantic race to get out of the Second Division.

That's the view of Leicester centre-half Larry May who pinpoints those qualities as the reason why Luton and West Ham may have missed out last time.

"West Ham play pretty-pretty football but there often seems to be a lack of fight about their game," Larry told Match Weekly.

"Luton also went well last season until the final few games. It may have been that they lacked determination when it came to the crunch.

"For all that though I take both Luton and West Ham to gain promotion this time — although Chelsea may edge out the Hammers.

"Derby look the sort of side who can bounce back and I fancy Bristol City to go a long way as well.

"An unfashionable choice for me would be Shrewsbury. They surprised a lot of teams last season.

"Last season they'd win at places like Chelsea but then draw at home to some lowly team.

"And you can't forget Newcastle. If they improve their away form they could be the team to beat."

Larry May: "You've got to have fight and determination to get out of Division Two."

No Withe, then no promotion

SUNDERLAND striker Kevin Arnott has bad news for arch-rivals Newcastle — he doesn't think they'll make it a North-East double with promotion next season.

"They've sold Peter Withe now and every time they were without him last season they struggled," Kevin said. "Withe was easily Newcastle's best striker.

"West Ham are certainties to make the jump this time. We played them four times last season and they were far and away the best we faced.

"I also fancy Chelsea and QPR to make up for last season's disappointments. Rangers have a lot of money to spare after selling Clive Allen and Paul Goddard is an extremely good player.

"Derby are also bound to go well after their tremendous run-in to the season.

For outside tips Kevin picked Watford and Sheffield Wednesday. "Watford have had a year's experience in the Second Division and will be around the top six and Sheffield Wednesday have plenty of experience," he said.

Sunderland's Kevin Arnott says Newcastle are going to miss Peter Withe's strength up front this season.

Experience is a must in order to get out of Division Two, says Kevin. "At Sunderland we've got experience through people like Pop Robson and Steve Whitworth.

"But young lads like myself, Shaun Elliott and Gary Rowell also have plenty of experience and we've played in the First Division."

Another secret is workrate. "Ken Knighton never stopped telling us to match other sides for work and aggression and then our extra skill would come through.

"That is just what happened — especially in the crucial last games."

Swansea my outside bet for Division 1

THE signing of Leighton James may be just the lift Swansea need to complete their journey from the Fourth to the First Division, says Birmingham's Alan Curbishley.

"Swansea are already packed with experience and James gives them an added dimension," Alan told Match Weekly.

"We got out of the Second with experience — it's a quality you can't do without."

But although Alan selects Swansea as an outside bet, his tips for next season's top Second Division places lie with West Ham, Luton and QPR.

"If it hadn't been for the FA Cup West Ham would already be back in the First Division," he said.

"Luton played very well last

It's a Charity Shield fact

One of the oddest goals scored in a
Charity Shield match came on August
12, 1976 when Spurs played
Manchester United. Tottenham's Alan
Mullery (now manager of Brighton) played a back pass to Pat Jennings
(now of Arsenal) and the goalkeeper's punt out, with following wind and driving rain, beat United goalkeeper Alex Stepney on the first bounce and went into the net. The match finished 3-3.

CELTIC PUZZLER

CELTIC have just returned from a four match tour of West Germany and Holland and left manager Billy McNeill puzzled.

They opened up in Holland with an 8-0 win against Sv Wesseling, a Second Division club, with goals from Murdo McLeod (3), George McCluskey (2), Frank McGarvey, Bobby Lennox and Charlie Nicholas.

And they they crushed Nijmegen 5-0, McGarvey scoring a hat-trick with McCluskey grabbing the other two.

Sadly though Celtic went down 4-2 to Dutch First Division side Go Ahead Deventer and 4-0 to Werder Bremen.

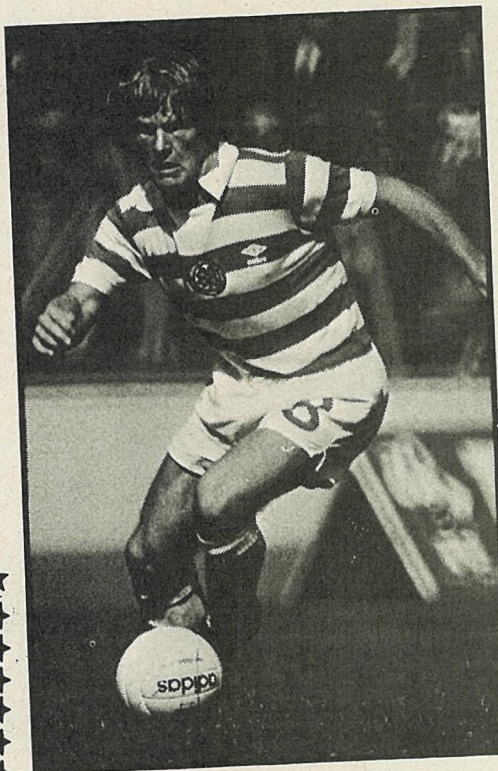

Two successes of the tour, however, were teenagers John Halpin a midfielder and striker Nicholas, tipped in MATCH in May for stardom by Danny McGrain.

★ AMBITIOUS Clydebank, who want to get into the Premier League, have bought two new players to strengthen their bid.

Murdo McLeod . . . a hat-trick in Holland for Celtic.

Meadowbank plan ahead

MEADOWBANK Thistle could soon be literally jumping in at the "deep end" to play their home games.

Thistle officials are pursuing the idea of persuading Edinburgh District Council to fill in the now disused Portobello open-air swimming pool for football and create a sports complex for the local community.

At the moment, Thistle play at the plush Commonwealth Games Stadium in the city but have always found difficulty with home games at the start of each season because of the overlap caused by athletic meetings.

High-flyer Bobby

BOBBY Watson, the dynamic Airdrie manager, has a hectic life style.

Apart from bossing the part-time Broomfield club who have won a place in the Premier Division this season, he is also in demand as a lay preacher and runs his own steel stockholding company in Lanarkshire.

Trying to catch him on the phone recently, MATCH WEEKLY discovered he was 50ft in the air operating a crane.

"It was business," said Bobby, when he came back to earth. "I wasn't up there to get closer to the Almighty. My crane man was on holiday and even the boss has to muck in."

Hot seat 'keepers

"There should be more of us," says
Dundee boss Mackay.

DONALD Mackay became only the second member of an exclusive club when he was appointed manager of Dundee in May.

For Donald shares with East Stirling's Billy Lamont the distinction of being a former goalkeeper turned manager.

And the forthright Dundee boss has strong views about why there are so few ex-keepers in the managerial ranks.

The 40 year old former Dundee United and Southend goalkeeper, who has just spent three years coaching in Denmark, said:

"Directors don't seem to have any faith in goalkeepers. 'Oh, he's only a 'keeper' is the kind of reaction that you get when you apply for a job.

"Certainly a goalkeeper's job is a specialised one. It's a bit like putting in golf — a separate game inside the sport.

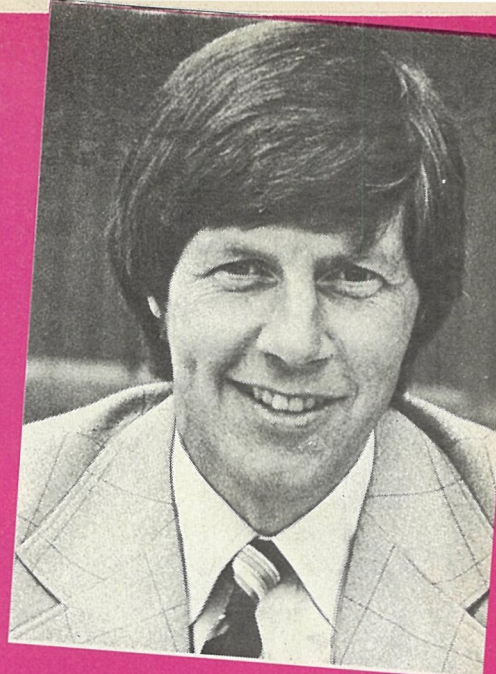

"But this doesn't mean a goalkeeper isn't able to spot faults and come up with answers.

"In fact the opposite applies. A 'keeper is involved for only a small part of the game and that gives him time to study what is going on in front of him and see what faults outfield players have.

Donald points to big Jock Wallace of Leicester City as a prime example of what he means.

"Jock was a good goalkeeper with Airdrie and West Brom and as manager with Rangers and now Leicester he has proved he can do the job."

Manager Mackay has other theories about the shortage of ex-keepers now occupying the managers chair.

Donald Mackay... clubs are prejudiced against goalkeepers becoming managers, he says.

"It's taken for granted that all goalkeepers are a bit daft," he says. "But perhaps they are not stupid enough to become managers. They spend years getting shot at and maybe don't fancy keeping that going any longer than necessary.

"Then again it's a fact that goalkeepers last longer in the game and are still playing into their mid and late thirties. So by the time they have stopped playing, most of the good jobs have gone to outfield men who had to quit years earlier."

A team for ALL seasons —that's Aberdeen

ABERDEEN manager Alex Ferguson sets out in this new season with two main ambitions — to prove his side is not a one title team and to show that Dons are not a one man team either.

Says Fergie: "There are many people who think we won the Premier Championship last year simply because Celtic faltered. We are going to prove them wrong.

"We are a team for all seasons now and I expect us not only to defend the title successfully but to add further trophies as well.

"Also I want the boys to show that although Steve Archibald has been transferred to Tottenham he wasn't the only reason for our success.

"Certainly we will miss him. Steve is a great striker — brave and quick, but we have other players who will do a great job for the club.

"It's clear to me that if players like Willie Miller and Ian Scanlon decide to stay with us rather than move on then they must see a great future with Aberdeen.

"We have made the breakthrough and are now capable of taking on any opposition.

"We will be very hard to knock off that top spot in Scotland."

Hearts set on Willie

FORMER Rangers and West Brom winger Willie Johnston, who wants to come back to finish his career in Scotland when he leaves the Vancouver Whitecaps, could find himself forming a partnership again with another ex-Ibrox favourite Alfie Conn.

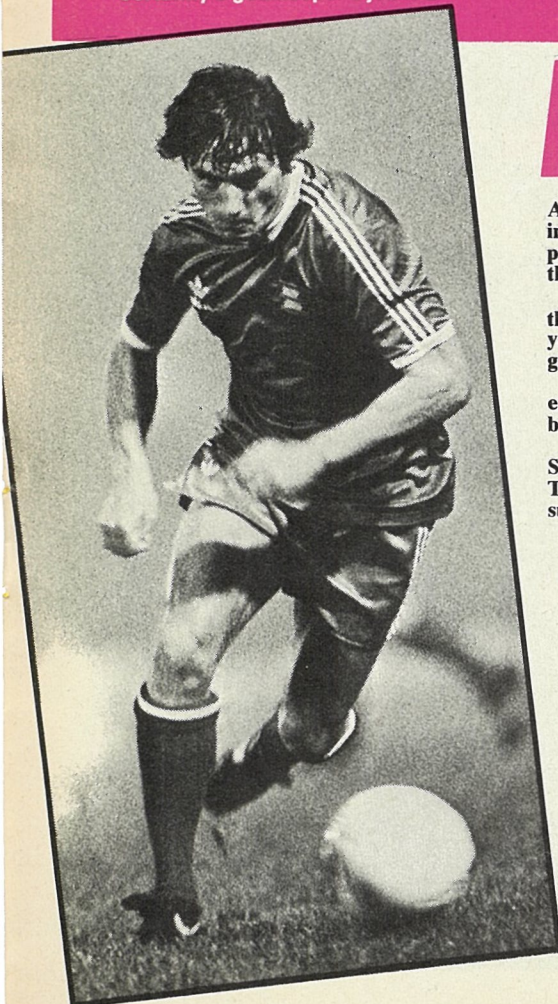

For newly promoted Hearts are keen to get Johnston into the same forward line as Conn, who joined up with the Tynecastle club recently.

Another man wanted by Hearts boss Bobby Moncur is the strapping ex-Clyde centre-half Willy McVie.

TERRACE TALK

— the letters' page with something to say

Watford will do well

LAST season's Second Division promotion race was really close and I can see the same happening this time.

The main chasers will be Newcastle, West Ham and Watford. Both Newcastle and West Ham narrowly missed out last time and Watford really impressed me a lot.

With players like Eric Steele, Malcolm Poskett and Luther Blisset in the side Watford are bound to do well.

Neale Stewart (13),
Prudhoe, Northumberland

City critics in for a shock

AS THE new season approaches the critics are hovering above Maine Road like vultures waiting for Malcolm Allison and Manchester City to fall flat on their faces once more.

Many of them even believe that relegation is a distinct possibility for City.

Well I'd like to warn all the critics — they may be in for a big shock. City are a team with plenty of young talent and a year's First Division experience can only make lads like Ranson, Caton, Mackenzie and Reid better players.

Add to this the experience of Corrigan, Deyna, Reeves and Tueart and you've a side more than capable of holding its own in the First Division.

Rony Stephens (15), Co. Dublin

Villa for the Championship

ASTON VILLA's fight against the big-name clubs like Liverpool, Manchester United and Nottingham Forest has gone virtually unnoticed.

When they made their comeback to the First Division in 1975-76 they ended up in the bottom half of the table. But since then they've won the League Cup and finished in the top eight places for the past four seasons.

It is this consistency which I think will win them the League Championship either this season or in the very near future.

Neill Chambers, Co. Down, N. Ireland

Manchester City's Nicky Reid — will be a better player for last season writes Rony Stephens of Dublin.

OUTRAGED!

These fans make me mad

I'M outraged at the barracking given to the coloured players from the opposing team's fans. Every time they touch the ball the fans start doing their gorilla impressions and monkey-noises echo round the ground.

What makes me even more mad is that the players concerned are class players — Viv Anderson, Vince Hilaire, Garth Crooks, Cyrille Regis, Justin Fashanu, Laurie Cunningham, Terry Connor, Garry Thompson, Luther Blisset. Need I go on?

Simon Reece (14), Coventry

● But haven't you noticed how often the coloured players have the last laugh — by making a monkey out of their opponent?

Be fair to the Scots

TREVOR Haylett, don't you think you are slightly biased in favour of England. Please stop running down us Scots. Why not be fair to everyone for once in your column?

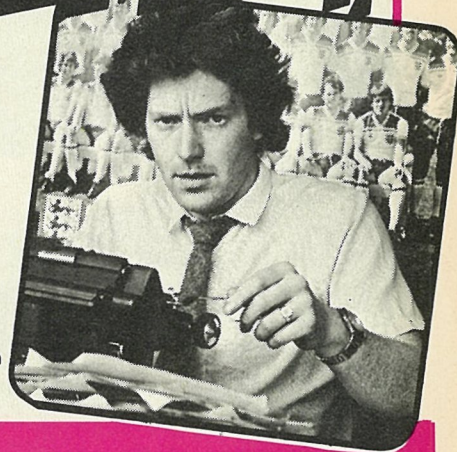

Ross McEachern,
Bearsden, Scotland

● Correction, I'm VERY biased in favour of England.

YOU might prefer to call me something else — but there's no doubting I'm THE VOICE of football. Some try and shoot me down but I always come out on top in the end.

Why don't you argue with me — if I print your letter I'll send you £2 as a reward. And if you enclose a black and white picture of yourself I may use that too.

But beware — I don't allow any softies in this column. Write to: Trevor Haylett, Outraged, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough PE1 1UB.

FOUL
WEEK

Jordan's got it all wrong

I WAS outraged at Joe Jordan's 'highlights and disappointments of the season' when he said he was sad for Arsenal because they didn't win anything.

Then he went on to say it must have been heartbreaking for the players.

Maybe it was, but why doesn't that big-head consider the Arsenal supporters.

After all, it was they who cheered Arsenal on to the final stages of the competitions.

Andy Young (15), Washingborough, Lincoln

● Joe — you have my permission to sink your fangs into this 'orrible young man. Have you stopped to consider mate that it was the Arsenal players who gave their supporters something to cheer about in the final stages?

Soccer's screen idols

WITH a new football season upon us what better way to whet your appetite than a visit to the local cinema to see a film starring your favourite team.

On offer around the country are the following:

"Life of Brian" — the story of the amazing exploits of a lone figure, and his sidekick, who take on the world and succeed with team after team.

"Sound of Music" — the story of Jimmy Hill's endless debate on the merits, or otherwise, of the 'Match of the Day' signature tune.

"Robinson Crusoe" — the exploits of a certain centre-forward who faced a lone challenge up front with Manchester City last season.

"Help!" — the story of Rochdale FC.

"The way we were" — a woeful story of the days gone by featuring Burnley FC and starring Bob Lord.

And finally, the sequel to the "Life of Brian", the cast of actors remaining the same, "King and I".

Can any readers better my list?

Gareth Webb, Bolton.

Too old, too short and too heavy!

I RECENTLY heard that a computer worked out that the perfect footballer should be 24 years old, 5ft 10in tall and weigh 11st 2lb.

In the First Division the 22 teams average 25 years, 5ft 10½in and 11st 10lb. They are older and bigger in every department.

The England team that lost to Italy in the European Championship was, on average, 26 years old, 5ft 9¾in and 11st 9lb. They were too old, too short and too heavy.

WE signed around £1½m worth of football talent to give our European Champions a facelift for the new season — but it won't be easy for either Ian Wallace or Raimondo Ponte.

The pressure will all come from the so-called supporters on the terraces of our football grounds.

Every time Wallace misses a chance they'll be chanting some rubbish like "What a waste of money." And when Ponte puts his first pass astray it will be something like "Get back to Zurich."

That's the kind of thing they will have to overcome as they try and settle down with a new club and make successful careers for themselves with Nottingham Forest.

Having obviously met the two players and slightly assessed their temperaments I'm telling you now that they are bound to be affected by the mindless jibes and shouts that will be aimed at them in the coming months.

There is a section of our soccer public that borders on the semi-illiterate.

Their filthy language makes me want to vomit and when I hear anyone shout something like "Give me the ball, I could do better," it just leaves me lost for words.

That's the kind of environment Wallace and Ponte can expect as new players. The spotlight will be on them like never before.

But they should not have to worry about that sort of thing. All they ought to be doing — without any stupid advice from the public — is trying to settle in at a new club.

I always reckon that it takes six months for any player to really get used to life in fresh surroundings. They are going to have enough problems getting to know me without anything else.

We've bought the players concerned because we believe they have qualities that can improve our side.

In Wallace we think we have got a striker who is capable of hitting the back of the net with a reasonable level of consistency.

We had problems at certain stages of last season in rounding off our approach work with a goal or two at vital stages.

We believe that Wallace can make the difference but we don't want people to start comparing him with Trevor Francis or Tony Woodcock.

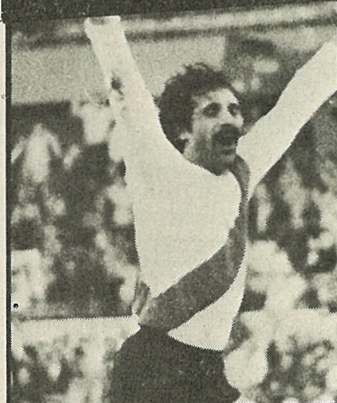

He's Ian Wallace — a different player; a different human being, who is trying to make a name for himself.

The same applies to Ponte. Some people might say that we've signed him as a replacement for Archie Gemmill, having failed to do so with Asa Hartford and then Stan Bowles.

But he's not Gemmill, Hartford or Bowles. He's Raimondo Ponte who has a lot to prove to himself with his move into English football.

ARGENTINI

LUQUE (River) . . . holding his place with River Plate but now under pressure in the international side and likely to be replaced by Ramon Diaz before 1982.

ARGENTINA'S supremacy in South American club football has been ended.

For the first time in 16 years there will be no Argentine team in the final of the Libertadores Cup, South America's answer to our European champion's tournament.

Velez Sarsfield, the last Argentine survivors in the competition, went down 3-1 in Brazil to Internacional of Porto Alegre, Adilson smashing a hat-trick.

Now Internacional, though outplayed for long spells in the 1-0 first leg defeat in Buenos Aires, are favourites for the final.

The strange story of Velez and Argentina's flop began last year when Velez were runners-up to River Plate, probably South America's most glamorous club, in the country's First Division (Metropolitan) Championship.

River did the "double" that year by also winning the National Championships in December, a play-off league involving the top 'Metro' clubs and eight provincial champions.

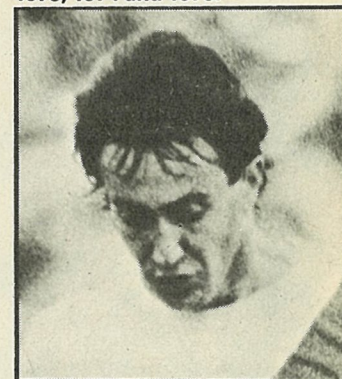

As each country in South America has two representatives in the 'Libertadores' Velez beat Union of Santa Fe, to win the place.

River Plate were the favourites to win the 'Libertadores' the only major trophy that has eluded them, but despite the presence of Fillol, Passarella, Tarantini, Luque, Ortiz, and Alonso in their de-luxe side they fell to Velez in the qualifying group one, on goal difference.

Velez's team, built around the defensive skill of Osvaldo Piazza, a losing European Cup finalist with Saint Etienne in 1976, and the precocious promise of midfielder Ischia — he played as a sub for Menotti's team at Wembley in May — drew 1-1 with River in the group and beat Atletico Chalaco 5-1, River beating Peruvian champs Sporting Cristal 3-2.

In Buenos Aires against Internacional, Velez missed three first-half chances and went down to a late goal. In Porto Alegre it was one-way traffic. Now, unless America produce a miracle, it will be Internacional against Nacional of Uruguay or holders Olimpia of Paraguay in the final.

FOOTNOTE: The format of the Libertadores has produced many double and treble champions. For example, Estudiantes de La Plata in 1968, 1969 and 1970 or Independiente 1964, 1965, 1972, 1973, 1974 and 1975.

Alonso in action (heading) for River in last month's local derby with BOCA JUNIORS.

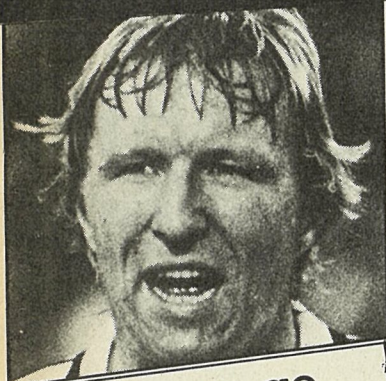

ALONSO (River) . . . always been regarded as the pin-up boy at River and one of the most efficient goal-scoring midfield players in the Argentine side; but not one of Menotti's favourites.

Rossi ban now 2 years

PAOLO Rossi, Italy's former Golden Boy centre forward, has had his three-year ban cut by 12 months to two years by the Italian Football League.

WORLD CUP SHOCK

WORLD ROUND-UP

Juventus go for Hrubesch

HORST HRUBESCH — £200,000 price tag has now doubled.

LATEST rumours from transfer-mad Juventus suggest that the Turin club is now switching its attention from Argentine wonder boy Diego Maradona to Angel Guillermo Hoyos of Talleres, a 19-year-old who was a member of the junior world champions' team in 1979.

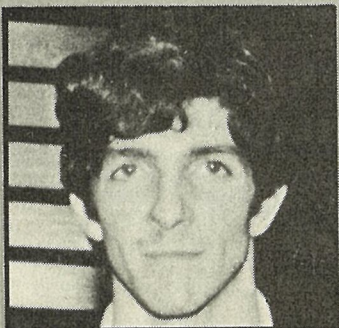

Juventus could also seek the goalscoring talents of the German 'Monster' Horst Hrubesch who is said to be worth about £400,000 now — compared to the £200,000 price tag on his head before the Euro Championships.

Kevin Keegan and Billy Bremner (now manager of Doncaster) became the first Football League players to be sent off at Wembley during the Charity Shield match between Liverpool and Leeds on August 10, 1974. They were given their marching orders after a scuffle and each fined £500 and suspended for five weeks.

*It's a Charity
Shield fact*

But for AC Milan, also involved in the bribes scandal, there was no good news. They will definitely be playing in the Second Division next season now that their demotion has been confirmed.

The league's disciplinary committee also decided that the bans of Bruno Giordano and Lionello Manfredonia (both of Lazio, Rome) should be doubled from 18 months to three years, while former Italian international goalkeeper Enrico Albertosi has had his life ban cut to four years.

PAOLO ROSSI — three-year ban cut by 12 months.

Uruguay Fever

URUGUAY is going ahead with its plans for December's invitation tournament "Mundialito" as if it was hosting the real World Cup.

The whole country is gripped by the feverish preparations. Already plans have been made for the opening ceremony, to take place before the kick-off of the first big match, Uruguay v Holland, in Montivideo on Tuesday, December 30.

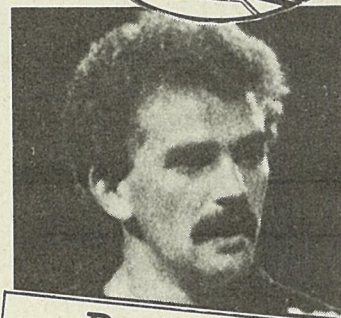

For most of the teams the competition will be of little more than experimental importance but for Uruguay and Brazil they need to win to boost ailing confidence just 18 months before the World Cup in Spain.

Programme of matches: 30 December — Uruguay v Holland; 1 January — Argentina v West Germany; 3 January — Italy v Uruguay; 4 January — Brazil v Argentina; 6 January — Holland v Italy; 7 January — West Germany v Brazil; 10 January — FINAL.

ABERDEEN'S European Cup opponents FC Austria Vienna, could well be without two of their star players for their tie at Pittodrie on September 17.

Inter-Milan, the Italian champions, are poised to sign 24-year-old Herbert Prohaska in a £1.25 million deal, while top scorer Walter Schachner is the target for PSV Eindhoven, looking for a £750,000 replacement for Rene Van der Kerkhof, who has joined Lazio.
